I am an outdoor, wedding and commercial Photographer based in Scotland. My aim in taking photos is shooting captivating, real moments that tell their own story. With my work you can expect photos that grabs the audiences attention and brings them in to the story.

The heart for my inspiration comes from storytelling. Everyone has their own individual story and it's my pleasure to try and capture a part of who you are and what you represent in my work.

In my spare time I enjoy a variety of hobbies including hiking, camping, climbing, mountaineering, mountain biking, surfing, cliff diving and skateboarding. All of these hobbies have given me skills which provide opportunities for creating unique, captivating images.
